Words from the Allsherjargoði

Victory is in the air! July saw amazing Sigrblót at all 4 Hofs plus Sigrheim. We have had a surge in new members joining as well as interested people attending events. The Folk are waking up and coming home to our ancestral faith. I am proud of what all we have accomplished in the first 30 years of the AFA. I am particularly pleased with where we are at present. I am very excited about the momentum we have going forward. As I often say in these articles, now is an amazing time to be a part of the AFA and to be Ásatrú.

I would like to talk to you about 3 men who we now honour as Ásatrú heroes. First there is Járnkeggja (Iron-Beard). When Olaf Tryggvason was forcibly converting Norway with fire and sword, Járnkeggja stood strong as a local leader who wanted to stay true to the Æsir. Járnkeggja was cut down on the Hof steps while protecting the altar of Lord Þórr from Olaf and his men's desecration.

Our next two heroes stand out as they were loyal to the Æsir when very few were, these men both lived in the 15th century. Both men were killed because they had dedicated themselves to Óðinn. Erik Klasson and Ragnvald Odiakarl. Both men were burned at the stake because they were openly Ásatrúar. What Ásatrú looked like in their day is very interesting to consider, and I get the impression that it was largely personal devotion between individuals and one or more of the Æsir.

Járnskeggja will be honored with a Day of Remembrance each year on May 9th.

Erik Klasson will be honored with a Day of Remembrance each year on June 13th.

Ragnvald Odiakarl will be honored with a Day of Remembrance each year on October 27th.

Words from our Witan

Newest Member of the Witan

As the newest member of the AllsherjargoðI's Witan, I thought I would introduce myself here to anyone who may not know me yet. I'm married to Madison East, the AFA's graphic designer, and we have a three-month old son named William. I'm also an Army veteran, as I served in the Infantry from 2016-2019.

I've been Ásatrú and an AFA member for 10 years now, as I joined when I was 18 years old. I joined days after my high school graduation, and a few months before the AFA purchased the building that would become Óðinshof. I started Folkbuilding at Vetrnætr in 2017, got ordained as a Goði at Vetrnætr in 2021, and elevated to the Witan at Sigrblót this past month. I have been to all four of our current Hofs, as well as Sigrheim. I went through the Goðaskóli while serving as a Folkbuilder at Þórshof, alongside Goði Stamm and Witan Young. When we dedicated Njörðshof in 2022, I began serving Njörðshof District as a Goði, before being named Hofgoði in April of this year.

I say all of this to illustrate that the AFA is my entire life, and that I would have it no other way. Being elevated to the Witan is a dream come true for me, and I am looking forward to assisting the Allsherjargoði in doing great things for the Æsir and our Folk.

My phone number is 678-901-2040. If you are reading this, please save my number and feel free to reach out if you need advice or counsel.

Hail the AFA!

Words from Our Goðar

Evolution of a Freyr's Man – Thorgrun Odden

His Norwegian blood whispered to him in the dense redwood canyons of coastal California. Photos of stave churches and longhouses piqued his interest. Though he was far more of a carpenter than a farmer, nurturing fruit trees and plants of all kinds was second nature to him. He built his dream home with a wall of windows that overlooked damp, shadowy forests. It was there that he would take solace when times were tough, a man alone amongst giant trees. By then he knew his Gods, and his place of worship was in a circle of dark-hued redwoods. When despair filled his days, his personal redwood grove became his Vé where he gave offerings to the Æsir.

One day, something very strange happened. The soft ground of the Vé was deeply pitted from a wild boar's hooves. The next morning, there were more hoof prints, but this time they were right outside his front door! He took this as a powerful omen, and gift from the boar -- and from Lord Freyr himself. From then on, Thorgrun was a Freysgoði, and Gullinbursti, Freyr's golden-bristled boar, was his spirit animal. His family's hearth became Gullinbursti Kindred.

Within months, we met Thorgrun and the rest is history! He helped establish what is now the Asatru Folk Assembly...He was a key player in the Kennewick Man saga...He made the contact that brought us to the Grange Hall in Brownsville...He carved the God-poles that overlook our ritual circle. The AFA had a Freysgoði, the only leader to-date dedicated to Freyr, and his energy and enthusiasm was unstoppable.

His green and brown velvet garb clearly represented the earthy essence of Miðgarðr. Each Yule, he'd stride into the Hall with jingling bells, gripping his wooden staff. Bringing heaps of joy with him, Papa Yule had arrived to hand out gifts to the children! Nurturing the well-being of our Folk was natural to Thorgrun -- another aspect of Lord Freyr.

At this holy tide known as Freyfaxi, we'll remember the Goði Thorgrun's kind ways, slow-pace and measured words. His grove is no longer the redwoods, but a corner of Óðinshof's land where water flows through a gurgling fountain given in his name. We call this place Thorgrun's Grove. Laguz : life force. Thorgrun passed through the veil in July of 2024. Last year, at Freyfaxi, we interred him in our Óðinshof cemetery – on his 78th birthday. His ashes were placed within a handcrafted box and set among grave-gifts from the Folk. He will forever be our Freysgoði and caretaker of our land.

Upcoming Freyfaxi

Freyfaxi is a modern label given to the time of year in ancient times when the seeds planted at Sumarmál and the seasons hard work came to fruition with first harvest coming in for the Folk. Whether these were literal seeds in a garden or field, or they were the beginnings of projects needing to be done, this was the time to start collecting and to wrap things up, as readying for the colder months was at hand. Ritual and Blót were dedicated to Freyr, the god of fertility, harvest, and abundance. In collecting the harvest, it also significantly involved the Landvætr. For without the partnership with these spirits of the land, a harvest could fail, stranding the Folk without the necessary nourishment that was needed to get through the cold dark months ahead. It was common practice to leave the first sheave of grain out for the Landvætr in appreciation to perpetuate the gift cycle, building and continuing a partnership with the land spirits.

This is usually held towards the end of July and into August depending on the latitude of the people with a Blót to Freyr, thanking him for the harvest and fertility. This was also close to the time the ships would return from summer exploration so those who were viking were able to join in the harvest. This was also a time of celebration of reuniting the Folk coming back together. Offerings would be of the toils of the Folk during the summer months, including the first sheath of bound grain, baked breads, and such.

An additional tie to Freyfaxi is from the Hrafnkels Saga, where Chieftain Hrafnkell had dedicated his personal horse to the god Freyr, naming it Freyfaxi. Hrafnkell had sworn that he would kill anyone that rode this horse without permission. One day the shepherd, Einar needed a horse to collect the chieftain's sheep and the only horse that would not run from him was Freyfaxi. In fear of the consequences of losing the herd, Einar took and rode Freyfaxi all day rounding up the Chieftain's sheep and at day's end, Hrafnkell became furious when he saw that Freyfaxi was exhausted, sweaty, and dirty. The next morning Hrafnkell rides out to meet Einar and keeps his promise, killing Einar. So, at times a horse was also sacrificed to Freyr at this Blót symbolizing the strength of one's word and oaths. No one could ever question the strength of Chieftain Hrafnkell's word.

See your Folk and celebrate Freyr, and each other's hard work coming to fruition. Prepare with your Folk for the coming cold and dark months together. Honor Frey and the Landvætr.

Ásatrú Trúlögmál

Ásatrú Trúlögmál: The fundamental beliefs of the Asatru Folk Assembly.

You can find it on our website at <https://www.runestone.org/asatru-trulogmal>.

We have known for a long time that a clear expression of the fundamental beliefs of the AFA was needed and recently, we took the first steps in presenting that in a clear and straight forward way. Please know this is the first step and is by no means all-encompassing. The intention here is to express the very fundamentals of our religion in one place, in a way that is easy for our AFA family to reference as well as a document to explain our religion to those who ask: "What is it that you guys believe?"

Hail the Heroes of Ásatrú that paved the way!

Hail the Asatru Folk Assembly!

Hail the Æsir!

The Quest for Freyshof

“Njördr in Nóatún begot afterward two children: the son was called Freyr, and the daughter Freyja; they were fair of face and mighty. Freyr is the most renowned of the Æsir; he rules over the rain and the shining of the sun, and therewithal the fruit of the earth; and it is good to call on him for fruitful seasons and peace. He governs also the prosperity of men.”

– Gylfaginning

This sacred quest is making great progress! The generosity has been amazing, as always!

This is the list of things that need to happen before we can make Freyshof a reality:

1. NJÖRÐSHOF IS NOW COMPLETELY PAID OFF!
2. CURRENT AVERAGE MONTHLY DONATIONS LOOK GOOD!
3. We need to locate a suitable property (The Ericksons have scouted 4 properties so far).
4. WE HAVE A LENDER.
5. We need to continue building up the war chest for a down payment.

AFA Ásatrú Academy

Check out the Ásatrú Academy at AsatruAcademy.org

Greetings parents. Myself and our staff are pleased and proud to be welcoming students Kindergarten through 7th grade this fall! By now you should have received a call from either Rachel or Sara discussing the new school year and checking on progress. If you have not spoken to staff, please get in touch with us as soon as possible! You should know that we are not going to be using QuickSchools any longer, we are switching to Google Classroom. QuickSchools was cumbersome and often difficult to navigate. The switch to Google Classroom offers a much more user-friendly platform and also brings the Academy in line with the platform our church uses for other instruction programs. We are absolutely sure you'll love Google Classroom! We will hold an informational meeting to go over the new platform and navigation.

We look forward to another successful school year!

Days of Remembrance

King Osric of Deira | August 1st

634 𐌹

King Osric of Deira was one of the shortest-lived kings of any of the 7th century CE collection of kingdoms that made up what was later to be known as England. At the time, there were seven kingdoms, known as the Heptarchy. One of those kingdoms was Northumbria, which was originally divided into the two kingdoms of Bernicia in the north and Deira in the south. These two kingdoms would first be united during the reign of King Aethelfrith, who reigned from 593 to 616 CE. The two kingdoms were in a near constant state of war with each other for centuries, which led to great instability in the region.

To tell King Osric's story, we first have to tell the story of Edwin of Northumbria. Edwin was the son of Aella, the first known king of Deira. Upon Aella's death, a certain Aethelric assumed power in Deira. Who Aethelric was is unclear, but he may have been the father of Aethelfrith, who is listed as the King of All Northumbria by the year 604. During the reign of Aethelfrith, and for reasons unknown, Edwin was sent into exile. He was fostered first in the kingdom of Gwynedd (modern day southern Wales), and then later turned up around the year 616 in East Anglia, under the protection of King Raedwald. That same year, Aethelfrith was defeated in battle by Raedwald, who installed Edwin as his client king in Northumbria.

With the support of such a powerful overlord, Edwin would go on to unite Northumbria again, which put the kingdom under the control of a native of Deira for the first time, something considered "outside the normal tendency." Edwin would go on to take over most of England with Raedwald for the next decade, until the death of Raedwald around 625.

After Raedwald's death, Edwin sought to secure even more power for himself through marriage, and sought the hand of Aethelburg, sister of Eadbald of Kent. Eadbald agreed on the condition that Edwin convert to Christianity, believing that doing so would convert the Northumbrians just as his parent's marriage had converted Kent. Eadbald himself holds the dubious distinction of being the first Anglo-Saxon king to convert to Christianity.

It should be noted that this time period in English history, in regards to faith and religion, was tumultuous. Christian monks of every stripe were working hard to convert the kings and other nobility, in their aim to have all kings bend the knee to their new master. Edwin himself was characterized as being unsure of conversion, and even after his marriage, he still sought the advice of his counselors about the matter. The account of this meeting by the "venerable" Bede is widely cited and includes the famous story of Coifi, a "pagan" priest, who, when asked what he thought of the new faith and its rules, stated that they "may be worthwhile, since no one has been more dedicated to the old gods, and he has gained no benefit from them." Another counselor agrees, and Edwin makes his decision to convert. Coifi then asks to be the one to destroy the old pagan temple, since he now knows the "true god" has given him knowledge, and doing so will set a good example to the public. He asks for a horse and a spear, rides to the doorway of the temple and profanes it by casting the spear into it. We aren't given any insight into why this profaned the temple, but there were associations made by historians to connect it with the spear that pierced Jesus.

Edwin went on to become the most powerful king among the Anglo-Saxons, until the year 632, when a coalition of one of his foster-brothers from his time in Wales, Cadwallon, and the mighty Ásatrú king, Penda of Mercia, defeated his forces and killed him at the Battle of Hatfield Chase. This battle took place sometime in the autumn of 632 or possibly 633, sources are unsure. What we do know is that shortly after his death, his vast kingdom was split up, with Northumbria once again divided. Bernicia would go to his nephew, Eanfrith, son of his sister, Acha. Deira would go to Osric, his cousin, son of his uncle, Aelfric.

This brings us to the autumn of 633, with King Osric and King Eanfrith ruling their respective sub-kingdoms, having themselves superficially accepting the new faith. However, according to Bede and other historians, they promptly dropped the facade of being "good Christians," and reverted back to their native faith, Ásatrú. Their rule would not last a year, with Osric falling to the same Cadwallon that had helped to slay Edwin, after he attempted to besiege him in a fortified town. According to Bede in his "Ecclesiastical History of the English People," the year that Eanfrith and Osric ruled their sub-kingdoms was so abhorrent because of their return to Ásatrú that their reigns were effectively erased and added to the reign of Oswald of Bernicia. Oswald was a staunch convert and was later made a Saint.

While we don't know much about the life and thoughts of Osric, we should still speak his name and remember him. At a time in our history when one's faith could be and often was a matter of life and death, Osric chose to spend the brief time that he had in power to reinstate the Æsir to their proper place.

So let us remember King Osric of Deira, a short-lived champion of the Æsir, but a champion nonetheless!

Hail King Osric of Deira!

Hail the Honored Dead!

Hail the Óðinn!

King Radbod of Frisia | August 9th

† 648 - 719 †

King Radbod ruled Frisia from 680 CE until his death in 719. He was the last independent ruler of Frisia before it was subdued and converted by the Christian Franks.

Radbod is celebrated as a powerful warrior and leader, always energetic and constantly fighting another battle for the good of his people. He was said to have repulsed Christianity and its proponents out of Frisia during his early reign, since his predecessor had allowed the foreign faith to sink its claws into his kingdom years earlier. Adding to the gravity of Radbod's reputation, it is reported that he made the entire Frankish kingdom tremble in fear when they heard that he was assembling an army, even near the end of his life. His most well-known victory involves defeating Charles Martel himself at Cologne in 716, three years before his own death.

The most important tale of King Radbod's life, however, is when he was nearly baptized by Frankish Christians. While the reasons for this are unknown, King Radbod nearly accepted the desert faith for himself and his people. Wulfram, a monk, had set up the baptism. When King Radbod asked him where his ancestors were, Wulfram replied that they were burning in Hell, but that Heaven contained the souls of many fellow Christians. This remark quickly helped King Radbod make up his mind! He then rejected the baptism and Christ wholesale and said, "I would sooner spend eternity burning with my ancestors than in paradise with a pack of beggars."

From then on, and until the end of his days, King Radbod courageously and loyally stood with the Æsir. His faith in the Gods of his ancestors gave him enough strength to go shot-for-shot with the Frankish Empire for a time, even going so far as to defeat Charles Martel!

The Asatru Folk Assembly honors King Radbod for his defiance of the Christians, for his strength as a leader, for his love for his people, and for his loyalty to the Holy Æsir and Ásynjur!

Hail King Radbod of Frisia!

Hail the Asatru Folk Assembly!

Holiday

Freyfaxi | August 16th

Though Freyfaxi is, in name, a modern holiday the celebration around which it is centered is much older. Dedicated to Freyr, our ancestors celebrated the first harvest of the season. The most common offerings during Freyfaxi included the sheaves of wheat, or other grains, and freshly baked loaves of bread. Less common was the sacrifice of a horse in honor of Freyr.

The beginning of the harvest season marked the beginning of hard work and dedication. Every harvest of the season was necessary to the survival of each family, of the community. This hard work ensured that there would be food to see them through the long winter months.

Those seeds that we planted after Sumarmál and tended so carefully for the last few months have grown and some of them should be bearing the fruit of all of that labor. Take some time in the garden, as you pick the first offerings of your plants, to thank Freyr. Share with him some of that first harvest, along with bread and ale. Celebrate the God of Vitality and abundance with your family and Folk.

Be a Doer

We need you to volunteer for the AFA!

Yes, you. We have work to do and need folk who are artists, editors, writers, accountants, lawyers, publicists, reputation managers, professionals of all manner, technical support, web developers, system admins, tradesmen, craftswomen, and more. See the list of amazing projects we have below. We will find a way for you to help our Folk.

Please email volunteer@runestone.org to help us make a difference in our world.

Baby Blanket Project

The Women of the AFA are proud to be continuing this fine and noble work we call the Baby Blanket Project! We're committed to ensuring all new babies born within the AFA are gifted a handmade — knit, crocheted, or woven — baby blanket! It's just our little way of celebrating each new addition to our folk!

This project has been going strong for nearly a year now, and has been a rousing success! The Ladies of the AFA have knitted, crocheted, and sewn beautiful baby blankets for over 20 of our littlest folk, with more on the way. They've been delivered everywhere from Alaska to Florida, California to Sweden!

If you are a member of the AFA who is expecting a baby, please let your Folkbuilder know so we can get a blanket to you. If you would like to contribute, either financially or by volunteering as a baby blanket crafter, let your Folkbuilder know about that as well, so he can get you in touch with the right people. It's so rewarding to see your handicraft being loved by our little heathens!

Would you like a blanket for your newborn, or to donate and help with yarn costs (yarn is expensive!)? Please email babyblanket@runestone.org today!

Folk Services

For some, it may be a natural disaster. For others an unexpected change in health, and for some just an unforeseen chain of events. Whatever the case may be sometimes we find ourselves in a sticky situation, and although we try and to work and do our best to pull ourselves out, sometimes we may need the help of our Folk community to give us a hand up...

That's when our folks Services Program comes in. We give one-time monetary grants to those members in need. These folks are so grateful and we know that once they get back on track they will contribute to this fund. For those that are able, we are in need of funds so we can be prepared for when these situations arise in our community. If you're able please place a donation today. Even a small donation adds up in the grand scheme of things and even $5 or $10 can help if enough people pitch in. If even a fraction of the folks who like the page did that each month, imagine the possibilities!

AFA Folk Services is intended to provide modest, one-time monetary grants to AFA members in dire need of basic services. It is also to be a source for referrals and information to help members get help beyond what the AFA can directly provide. For more information, please email folkservices@runestone.org.

Your contributions are earnestly solicited and of course, are tax-deductible! Please donate to Folk Services or one of our other AFA Fundraisers at <http://www.runestone.org/donate/>.

Thanks in advance!

Photo Donations

We have a real need for hi-res photographs of our members' gathering, being active in their kindreds, and showing what it means to live Asatru!

If you are willing to donate some hi-res photos for use in promotions such as the AFA Calendar, the AFA website, our publications, and more please email them to the AFA at photos@runestone.org. The larger the resolution the better, so please email them from the device where the photo was taken.

Eir's Blessings

Everybody needs a little extra help sometimes. Women, being the frithy creatures that we are, are uniquely suited to the task of manipulating energy for the purpose of healing. Magic, you could say.

Do you have a health concern and need a little extra energy? Are you battling with a mental illness like depression or PTSD? Is your baby having a hard time with teething? If you've answered yes at all, reach out to us. Once a month women of the AFA will get together to perform healing rituals all across the globe. If you would like to be included, please send a message to let us know!

At the same time, Women of the AFA! If you are interested in helping to create a frithful, healing magic, let us know! It's easy, but it makes a huge difference to those in our community who need our help!

You can reach us at EirsBlessings@runestone.org

Last Will and Testament

Recently, several members of our AFA family have passed beyond the veil. One was an old man in ill health, two were young men in the prime of life... all died with no legal will on record. Sadly, in two of these cases, our dead AFA members did not have their wishes respected regarding their funerals nor the final resting places of their remains.

We never know when tragedy will strike. We have a responsibility to our loved ones, we have a responsibility to our own legacies, to plan for our passing, and to make our wishes known. Planning for and contemplating our death is uncomfortable. Hopefully, we all have plenty of time for that down the road, but we can't count on that. Maybe we worry about expenses or hiring a lawyer. We all have excuses to put things off until later, unfortunately, sometimes the clock runs out before "later" happens.

We have found an amazing resource for our U.S. members to make legally binding wills in minutes online for free. This site also has resources to make Advanced Medical Directives and Powers of Attorney. It takes only minutes at <https://www.doyourownwill.com/>.

Please make your will today.

The AFA would like to collect signed original copies of wills for all our members and store them. We want to ensure that when members of our AFA family die, their wishes are honored. Please send these to:

AFA Prison Ministry

The importance of this AFA Prison Ministry is so much more than just for those who are actually incarcerated, it benefits not only them as followers of Asatru but their families and loved ones on the outside as they will see the noticeable change in their demeanor and demand that our faith commands for them to lead a noble life. We all are future ancestors and will help them be examples of our faith and not be a burden or a product of recidivism.

We are compiling letters from prisoners that are Educational, Empowering, and Encouraging along with special spiritual writings from our Gothar to create a quarterly newsletter to be distributed to inmates, institutions, and jails. Our mission is not about providing free books or literature to bored prisoners who simply want free stuff. We intend on making real-world change for the better of our folk.

""No packed rooms in the prisons; in each institution I have only a few people; occasionally about a dozen, but 5-6 is more common. I certainly do not want the Fellowship to be a club for cons, or ex-cons; the advantage is that when in prison the inmates have time to discuss and digest what they read, a point that often is lost to people on the outside in the hubbub of daily concerns" - Else Christensen

By the example of our Folkmother, Else Christensen, we will also be going into prisons as we are able to. Some of our Gothar and other leadership, will be going into the prisons to hold study groups, lead blot, and encourage continued growth in the folk inside.

If you have a loved one who is incarcerated or know of someone who is Folkish and will benefit from this ministry, please contact us at prisonministry@runestone.org.

Or if you'd like to donate to this ministry, there's a donation earmark set up on our site here. The donations will be used to get small ritual items and books into the prisons and the hands of our Folk inside.

Ancestral Culture

Corn Dollies

Corn Dollies are a traditional European craftwork (that seems to have echoes of idol-making) that is made of dried stocks of grain. Corn, in the old days and in Europe was the term used for all grains i.e. wheat, barley, and others. Today the term corn, in the Americas, refers to maize or Indian Corn that many use today.

Corn dollies are dried stalks of grain woven into different shapes depending on the regions they hail from. Continental German, Scandinavian, and English all have rich traditions in making Corn Dollies.

It is said that in Arch-Heathen days into the 1800's Germany, the last sheaf of grain was said to be left standing for Sleipnir by Grimm but other sheaves of grain throughout Mother Europe would be twisted, braided, and fashioned into designs so the spirit of the grains or the wights of the crops could reside in the Corn Dolly until next year's planting in which the Corn Dolly would be sowed back into the land. All the dark months long, the Corn Dollies, holding the wights of the corn, were kept in places of honour in the people's homes or even barns.

August starts the beginning of the harvest season, and it is appropriate to fashion these Corn Dollies out of respect for our past and for the chance to show honour to the wights of the lands until springtide.

The following are directions for a simple Corn Dolly you can make with the Folk and family during Freyfaxi or maybe Haustblót.

1) Get yourself a wheat sheaf from any craft supplier and then remove 3 suitable stalks that are about even in length and thickness to each other.

2) I have been taught that you should soak the stalks for a day and that should make them pliable but I have not found that to be true, so instead, starting up under the wheat head and working my way down to the end of the stalk, I simply squish the stalk between my fingers until the whole stalk is a bit pliable and not so stiff. Don't go overboard as you can ruin the stalks.

3) Place three stalks together and tie with thread the three stalks together right under the wheat head. Make sure they are even.

4) Braid the three stalks all the way to the end of the stalk as you would your daughter's hair and once at the end, you tie the stalk together so the braid does not come undone. Both ends should be tied with thread and you now have a single woven strand of three stalks. This is also how you would make a simple rope, by the way. Clever fingers would be able to make a better-looking braid which would give a better finished product but judging by my clumsy braid and the final product, even most of us could make a passing Corn Dolly.

5) Now we twist the woven strand into a shape and secure it with ribbon. I like red. The one you see here is a type of 'Countryman's favours' Corn Dolly. There are fantastic variations and types of Corn Dollies to choose from or to inspire your own.

6) Put it in a place of honour until spring, and then put it in the ground ritually.

Hail the Spirits of the Harvest!

Baby Tracker

To show the growth of our Folk we present to you an ongoing baby tracker. We have been keeping track of how many children have been and are born within the AFA from 2022 and onwards. The ongoing tracking is proof that we are building something sustainable for the future of our Folk, which is a place for these children to grow up within and a place where they can feel proud of who they are!

Freyr, a Horse, and an Oath

This my very loose retelling of Hrafnkels Saga.

A young man, named Hrafnkell, arrives in Iceland in the year 900 with his father. They are one of the first settlers. He is full of ambition and excitement for the possibilities of this new land, so his father gives permission to Hrafnkell to stake out on his own and build his own settlement. He names his farm stead Aðalból, which means Noble Home. He builds a large temple to his favorite God, Freyr. He holds lavish ceremonies honoring Freyr. He goes so far as to dedicate his favorite horse, Freyfaxi, to the God. Hrafnkell swears an oath that no one shall ride Freyfaxi, beside himself or Frey. Anyone one who dares will be put to death.

As Hrafnkell becomes a chieftain, while he is good to his own men, he soon builds a reputation of being a bully and unfair to those outside his circle.

A young man named Einar comes to him for employment. He is given the job of shepherd to 50 ewes. Hrafnkell tells Einar about the horse Freyfaxi, the consequence of riding him, and even makes sure he knows there are 12 other horses that can be ridden if the need arises. Things go well for Einar until Miðsumar when 30 ewes go missing. He searches the hills for them for over a week without finding anything. One morning he gets up early and, in an attempt, to cover more ground searching, decides to saddle a horse. As he approaches the horses, they all run from him except Freyfaxi. He decides that Hrafnkell will not find out if he rides Freyfaxi for this important task. He ends up riding Freyfaxi from early morning to nighttime. Just as he is about to give up the search and head back home, he finds the missing ewes and is able to drive them back home. Freyfaxi is covered in sweat, mud, and is completely exhausted. The horse begins to neigh loudly, runs away from Einar and right to where Hrafnkell is sitting. Hrafnkell knows. In the morning, he goes to the stable with nothing but his ax in hand. Einar admits what he had done to Freyfaxi. Hrafnkell leaps off his horse and deals Einar a death blow to uphold his oath. Einar's father, Þorbjörn, is devastated by the death of his son and demands a weregild (a weregild is compensation to a man's family for death or dismemberment by the person guilty of it) from Hrafnkell. Hrafnkell declares that he has never paid a weregild but believes that he should in this case because it weighs on his heart. He makes Þorbjörn a very generous lifelong offer and Þorbjörn refuses. Þorbjörn eventually brings others to his side to bring a lawsuit against Hrafnkell and wins. Hrafnkell is removed from his lands, has his fortune taken from him, the temples are burned to the ground, and even poor Freyfaxi is driven off a cliff by Hrafnkell's enemies. Even Hrafnkell's faith in the Gods is shaken.

Many these days would hear this story and wonder why Hrafnkell stuck so stubbornly to his oath that cost him so dearly. It would have been so easy to overlook Einar's offence and move forward. Hrafnkell truly believed that no good comes to those who break solemn oaths no matter the consequences of keeping it. He also could have dedicated Freyfaxi to Freyr without making the oath. As with many people, he got caught up in the moment of showing his pure dedication to Freyr by loudly declaring this oath without thinking it through.

What can we take away from this saga? Think your words through before you say them. Oaths are solemn long after they are said and should be treated that way. Even keeping an oath comes with consequences, but the long-term implications are important for Victory of the Folk as a whole.

Food Pantry at Njörðshof

July's food pantry started out rather hectic, as I arrived at the Hof, we already had folks of the White Springs community waiting in line. I got everything set up with the McCloskeys just in time for the Lawspeaker to arrive with food. We unloaded our food delivery and started bagging everything up. By the time we had everything ready to start we already had 24 families in line to receive assistance. Mrs. Pam took down information and greeted everyone while the menfolk handed out food. All in all, it was a great time and left us feeling accomplished to know we played a small part to help the community.

When it was all said and done, we fed 49 families and got ready for an amazing meal prepared by the McCloskey family. Thank you everyone who showed up to help; your work and dedication to the food pantry does not go unnoticed.

Sigrblót at Njörðshof

We started the day as usual preparing for the food pantry. The McCloskeys, Lawspeaker Turnage, and I got started and provided food for 49 families this month. Afterwards we enjoyed an amazing meal provided to us by the McCloskeys with desserts made by Mrs. Rachel Vachon.

After lunch, Lawspeaker Turnage held an immensely powerful Blót to Lord Týr and anointed the Folk gathered with the blessings of Týr with Dauntless. We ended the day with a heartfelt Sumbl hailing our mighty Æsir, beloved Ancestors, and our Folk.

It was a wonderful day, and I can't wait to see everyone again for Freyfaxi.

Hof Steward Address

Workday Recap

July's Workday was rather light. With nothing much to do other than clean the Hof and continue to make plans and arrangements for larger projects. One project we've really been pushing is obtaining lawn equipment for the Hof. One small step has been made so far, we've finally found ourselves a good weed eater. Thank you to everyone who has and continues to contribute to the lawn equipment fund. As Hof Steward, it's my goal within the next three months to have everything we need to maintain the grounds at the Hof which has been an ongoing struggle.

Along with that as always, I appreciate everyone who volunteered and hope to see more participation at workdays the more organized we're able to get. With the lawn equipment, what I'd really love to see is a dedicated group of volunteers to help strictly with the lawn care. Training will be provided if you lack experience. With better organization, proper equipment, and no need to ask anyone to do anything more than just show up I know we can have a beautiful property worthy of Lord Njörð's Temple.

This month a special thanks to the McCloskey, McGlynn, and Page families for your time and dedication at the workday. Your actions don't go unnoticed.

For more information on the lawn equipment fund or how to donate, please email me.

Burger Moot

Our burger Moot was a good success this month. The Plourde family was able to be in attendance which means I got to visit with two of my favorite kiddos. The burgers were alright. Overall, it was a nice time, and we enjoyed it. Hope more people can join us for the next moot. We're out here having fun every month and we want you to come with!

Folk Brunch and Local Exploration

The popular healthy breakfast chain First Watch is quickly becoming a Folk favorite in Georgia. This time, we enjoyed perfectly cooked maple pepper bacon, southern shrimp & grits, and other classic breakfast choices. As I'm sure I've mentioned to many of our Folk recently, July was hectic. I spent every week traveling for work and for family. This Moot came during the one lull in the month, and I couldn't have been happier to slow down and enjoy time with our great Folk of Georgia before stepping off for another trip. Folk time is guaranteed to refresh and recharge.

After the brunch, we went to a local outdoor goods store that we'd never heard of before the Moot. It was cool to check out some new places in Kennesaw/Marietta and enjoy that hobby together.

Hi folks! We have some exciting things happening each month out here in Texas. Every month, we have an in-person Moot as well as a virtual membership meeting where we sit back and get to know one another. We usually have AFA Founder and native Texan, Stephen McNallen on along with his lovely wife, Gyðja McNallen. There's often an array of Goðar and Folkbuilders who join in as well. We cover many topics and try to cover each holy tide that may be coming up as well. Please rsvp with me if you would like to attend the Moot and keep your eyes peeled for a text from me with the link to the next membership meeting.
